

Food and Beverage Consumption

The board recognizes that employees and others associated with the district are expected to pay for their own food and beverage. Under certain circumstances when the district is deriving benefit, the district may expend funds for food and beverage consumed by employees and others while in the conduct of the business of the district. The cost of the food and beverage shall be reasonable and necessary.

The superintendent or designee is directed to establish procedures that reflect the intent of the board to provide for reasonable food and beverage consumption while in the conduct of business that is of benefit to the district.
